Summary

Customers should be at the centre of every business decision. When communication breaks down and service becomes inconsistent, customer satisfaction suffers—and so do retention, loyalty and growth. I'm a Customer Success and Operations professional with 9+ years of experience across healthcare services, property and large-scale service environments, with a strong interest in supporting SaaS and healthcare organisations. I help organisations improve the customer experience, strengthen retention and support account growth by combining customer-focused communication, structured processes and operational improvement. My approach is practical: understand the customer's needs, identify where the service journey breaks down, improve communication between customers and teams, and remove unnecessary steps that cause delays or frustration. My experience includes customer retention, account growth, customer relationship management, onboarding, customer health monitoring, escalation management, service delivery and operations management. I also work with KPI reporting, data analysis, stakeholder management and cross-functional teams to turn customer and operational insights into meaningful action. Throughout my career, I've focused on making customer handling more consistent and effective. This has included introducing better customer communication strategies, improving escalation and resolution processes, training employees to handle customers more effectively, and simplifying workflows to reduce unnecessary delays. Some of the results I've contributed to include a 35% improvement in service quality and an 18% increase in productivity across a 100+ person operation.  I believe customers should be a main focus point when making business decisions, and that organisations need to build proper communication channels between customers and internal teams. When businesses listen to customers, act on the right insights and create accountable processes, they can build stronger relationships and deliver better long-term outcomes. Currently open to Customer Success and Operations opportunities, as well as meaningful collaborations, consulting conversations and projects. If you're looking for someone who can understand customers, improve processes and connect customer needs with operational execution, I'd be happy to connect.

Experience

VMEDICARE LIMITED
Manager
April 2024 - Present (2 years 6 months)
London Area, United Kingdom

In my role at VMEDICARE LIMITED, I spearheaded operational delivery within a dynamic healthcare organization, focusing on patient experience and operational efficiency. I managed multidisciplinary teams, monitored KPIs, and implemented corrective actions to resolve operational issues. My efforts in enhancing service delivery processes significantly improved customer satisfaction and strengthened compliance frameworks across teams.

REAL ESTATES
Finance Manager
November 2022 - May 2024 (1 year 7 months)
Kerala, India

In my role as Finance Manager at REAL ESTATES, I spearheaded financial planning and budgeting efforts to support the growth of digital advertising and media sales. I successfully negotiated with media agencies to improve buying processes, maximizing ROI for brand-led campaigns. Additionally, I developed and presented financial strategies to senior-level clients, enhancing my communication and negotiation skills in a dynamic environment.

Vishnu Events
Assistant Manager
2017 - 2022 (5 years)
India

In my role at V Events, I was instrumental in managing large-scale operations that involved over 100 employees. I took charge of workforce planning and scheduling, ensuring effective client coordination and service delivery. My efforts supported the operational planning and execution of various concurrent projects and events, contributing to the overall success of the organization.
